Hotels should be a special place, a memorable place, a place that you never wish to leave. Unfortunately there are countless of soulless establishments, however we've picked out the very best boutique hotels in London, full of charm and character. These places will have you instagramming like crazy. The only difficulty you'll have is choosing which you want to stay at.

The Levin

The Levin is located in the upmarket shopping area of Knightsbridge with stores such as Harrods a very short walk away. A luxury townhouse hotel that comprises of 12 bedrooms from the renowned hotelier David Levin. It is the sister hotel of next door's The Capital and guests are free to use the Michelin starred restaurant there. The entire hotel is designed with luxury in mind, especially due to its location with guests benefiting from the fine linens and amenities in the room. The interior lighting is designed by Sarah Marsden and the central staircase is illuminated perfectly due to her design. Downstairs is the Metro bar (featured image) that serves breakfast, brunch, lunch and a wonderful Knightsbridge afternoon tea.
